

We, LINGL Schweißtechnik, are a medium-sized, owner-managed company based in the Munich area and have been established on the market for years in the field of resistance welding technology and mechanical engineering. Our customers are active in a wide range of industries and are spread across the globe. First and foremost, the automotive industry and its current transition to e-mobility. We also supply customers in the research, medical and aviation technology sectors. Our core business includes the execution of resistance welding tests with subsequent documentation, the construction of customized manual workstations up to self-sufficient stations, which are integrated into lines. Training in the field of resistance welding technology and supporting our customers in the development of new products are also part of our daily business.

We currently have no vacancies, but you are welcome to send us an unsolicited application!
